

EIGHT DEPUTIES WERE SELECTED

At the Meeting of Local Fishermen Which Was Held Tuesday Evening.

WILL HAVE CHARGE OF SEINES

Jacob Sottong, Chief Deputy Fish and Game Warden, Attended the Meeting.

About fifty men gathered at the city building Tuesday evening for the meeting which had been arranged for by Fred Ehlers of Indianapolis, the deputy game warden who had been here for several days.

Jacob Sottong, of Brookville, who is chief deputy fish and game warden for Southern Indiana was present and explained the plans by which farmers and other fishermen will be allowed to seine the streams of the county. He announced that local deputies for this county would be appointed and that all seines to be used in the county must be deposited with them. When the owners of a seine desire to go on a seining expedition they can apply to the deputy who holds their seine and he will go with them to the stream as a representative of the state authorities to see that the laws regarding the taking of fish are observed. The fishermen will be allowed to keep all carp, suckers and like fish which they secure. However they must not sell them. They can only use the fish themselves or give them away. All game fish secured in seining must at once be thrown back into the stream unless a fish weighing more than four pounds is caught; it may be retained. It had not been understood before that the privilege of keeping any game fish would be granted.

Gigs and nets may also be used under the same restrictions as seines. Mr. Sottong consulted with the persons present as to who would be the right men to appoint as deputies and the following selections were made: John F. Shiel, J. T. Abell and Jesse Weaver, Seymour; James B. Thompson, Cortland; Joseph Robertson, Brownstown; Tilden Smith, Vallonia; Lew Ernst, Medora; Dr. Butts, Crothersville. All are interested in fishing and are men who will protect the interests of the state.

The state fish commissioner has several objects in inaugurating the present plan for granting seining privileges. In the first place it is hoped that the hostility that has existed among many law abiding fishermen and farmers against some restrictions of the fish laws may be removed and the co-operation of these men secured in the enforcement of the laws such as dynamiting that do so much to really destroy the fishing in Indiana.

The fish wardens are after the men who come from cities and other sections, their only object being to catch as many fish as possible without regard to how they get them or whether they destroy the possibilities of future sport in the locality or not. The officers also believe that they will be able to put a curb on the men who camp or live along the streams catching fish by any means possible and selling them. The law prohibits the sale of fish caught in the small streams and lakes of the state and it is hoped that local fishermen will co-operate in helping stop the violation of this law.

The fish commissioners have another purpose in allowing the use of seines. It is the purpose of the state to restock all Indiana streams with game fish and it is desired that before much work is done in this direction that such harmful fish as carp, shall be cleared out.

Eight hatcheries are to be established in Indiana this year and the promise has been given that some minnows will be placed in Jackson county streams this season. At the meeting Tuesday evening talks were made by some of the local fishermen and one or two of them made a suggestion which Sottong agreed to present to the state fish commissioner and recommend that it be carried out. The local men stated that in the early part of the season may small bass and other game fish leave the big streams and go into small bayous and as the summer advances, connection between these bayous and the rivers is destroyed, forming stagnant ponds which gradually dry up, destroying great numbers of the small fish. It was suggested that these bayous be seined all over the state under the direction of the local deputies and the small game fish be put back into the rivers.

At Tuesday night's meeting Mark Williams acted as secretary.

DIED.

HUMPHREY.—George W. Humphrey, age 71 years, an old soldier and respected citizen of Vallonia, died Wednesday morning following a stroke of paralysis. He was a member of the Methodist church and of the Grand Army of the Republic. He served in Co. A, 50th Ind. during the civil war.

Besides the widow four children survive. Frank, of Vallonia, Mrs. Laura Sturgeon, of Indianapolis, Mrs. Della Shipman, of California, and Mrs. Micca Cummings, of Baltimore, Md. The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Methodist church, conducted by Rev. T. P. Gibbs, of Morgan-town, assisted by Rev. J. D. Edwards. Services will be in charge of the Brownstown G. A. R. post. Burial at Vallonia cemetery.

A Good Effect.

The Civic League, organized at Brownstown recently, has for its object the enforcement of the laws. A citizen of that town who was in Seymour this week, said that the forming of the organization has already had a good effect. Small violations of the law which had been so numerous are decreasing although the League has thus far taken no steps leading to arrests. People however, who have no respect for the laws understand that the League is determined that the town shall have law and order and have taken the hint given by the foundation of the League.

Memorial Sermon.

The Memorial sermon to the members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. will be preached this year by Rev. James Hawk at the Presbyterian church.

Samayoa, at the Carnival, presents a most wonderful aerial act known as the Cloud Swing, no nets are used in this act, and is worth going miles to see. Each evening free at the Carnival, don't miss it.

No meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the St. Paul church will be held Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. H. R. Boesch, Secy.

EXTRA TEXT BOOKS

Will Not Be Needed, the Superintendent Tells Trustees.

Township trustees over the state, following the adoption by the state board of school book commissioners of a one-book course in geography for common schools, will be warned by the state board against the expenditure of township money for supplementary texts. When the question of a one-book course was up for consideration, one of the objections voiced was that it would leave the township trustee a prey to the school book agent, who would be free to solicit the purchase of supplementary text books for the early years' work in geography on the theory that such supplementary books would be necessary to enable the teachers in the country schools to do proper work.

Opponents of the one-book course acknowledge such a course would be satisfactory in the city schools, where supplementary texts are used freely, without regard for the selection made by the state board. It was represented that if a one-book course was to be adopted for all the schools, the book agents could go to the township trustees and represent that the success of the course in the cities was largely due to the use of supplementary texts, and that if the course, was to be a success in the rural schools, the trustees must purchase other texts.

The state board, having adopted a one-book course, will represent to the trustees that the purchase of supplementary texts is unnecessary, and that the public money should not be spent for such a purpose.

Letters received from a large number of school men through the state before the meeting of the board showed the majority to be opposed to the one-book course. In one group of thirty-five letters, received from representative school men, thirty-four opposed the one-book course. The opposition was based on the theory that the ordinary teacher in the rural schools would not be sufficiently trained in the science of teaching to adopt the course laid down in the text to beginners in geography, and on the further theory that the rural teachers, whose daily programs always are crowded, would not have the time to give to special preparations for work by beginners in geography, as will be required by the one-book course.

Large Fruit Crop.

Some of the local fruit growers predict that the fruit crop in this part of the country this season will be the largest in a number of years. He says that the weather conditions during the winter and spring have been ideal for the production of a large fruit crop. The past winter was not severe, and during the spring there has been no warm period which swelled the buds prematurely, and no frosts since the blossoms came out sufficiently heavy to injure the fruit.

Lady Fanchon, the educated horse at the Carnival this week is the feature attraction and is drawing big crowds each evening. Every lady and child in Seymour should see this wonderful horse with the human brain.

BUSY DAY IN THE CIRCUIT COURT

Residue of Funds of People's State Bank of Brownstown, Amounts to $24,000.

CAN NOT BE DISTRIBUTED NOW

On Account of Suits Filed.—Trustee Honan Files Report.—Argument in Several Cases.

Tuesday was a busy day in the Circuit Court at Brownstown. Argument was heard in several cases in which considerable property is involved.

The case of Burton J. Barringer, of Crothersville, vs. the estate of his father, Daniel Barringer, was before the court. The plaintiff has a claim of $338 for services on the farm during his father's life time. Judgement in the case was not announced.

Judge Shea took under advisement, the case of Fred Alwes, guardian of Mrs. Rebber, in which the guardian asks that his ward be allowed to take property under the law, rather than according to her husband's will. By the latter, Mrs. Rebber was given 60 acres of a 140 acre farm and was to be cared for during remainder of her life by the daughter who, according to the will, was to receive the remainder of the farm. The guardian asks that the widow receive one third of the farm which would be more valuable than the 60 acres she received, and that the daughter also care for her. It is said there is a new and important question for decision involved. The parties live east of Dudleytown.

Argument was heard in the big ditch case in which so many people south of Seymour are interested.

Thomas M. Honan, trustee of the residue of the funds of the People's State Bank of Brownstown, filed his final report. He has about $24,000 for distribution but as objections have been filed to the distribution of the funds, according to the agreement made at the time depositors were settled with, the matter will have to be settled in court.

The money now on hand would, according to the agreement, referred to go to the bondsmen and directors, who paid in sufficient money to provide an 85 per cent. payment to depositors of the wrecked bank.

Some of the stockholders now contend that they were not parties to the written agreement made and ask a share in the distribution of the funds on hand. The sale of certain of the properties turned over by Burrell and by some other settlements made, have brought into the hands of the trustee, a larger amount of money than was anticipated at the time of the settlement mentioned.

Mrs. Laura Hallow was appointed administratrix of the estate of her husband, Ephraim Hallow.

Court will not convene again until Friday.

JACKSON COUNTY WOMEN

Elected Officers of Methodist District Missionary Organization.

At the annual district meeting of the Methodist Home Missionary Societies, held at Franklin Tuesday, Mrs. Florence E. Burrell of Brownstown, was elected president for the coming year. Mrs. F. A. Steele of Seymour, was elected second vice-president, Mrs. Effie Miller of Seymour, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frank Teckemeyer, secretary of mite box committee, Mrs. Josephine Vermilya, of Brownstown, secretary of temperance committee and Mrs. D. W. Wilson of Seymour, secretary for reading circle work.

Mrs. Burrell, Dr. Steele, Mrs. Teckemeyer, Mrs. Vermilya and Mrs. Wilson were on the program for the day.

In the appointment of committees, Mrs. Teckemeyer of Seymour and Mrs. E. F. Schneider of Brownstown, were named on resolutions committee; Mrs. H. J. Martin, press; time and place of meeting, Mrs. R. O. Mayes.

Still Cutting Expenses.

A considerable curtailment of the local force on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railroad at Jeffersonville goes into effect at once and the same policy will be carried out over the entire Louisville division. The night yard work will be done at Jeffersonville and in New Albany by the day crews or turned over to the Kentucky & Indiana Railroad and Terminal Company. Nine telegraph operators have been laid off in the thirty miles of track east of Jeffersonville and in many other cases, jobs have been doubled up and half the force dispensed with.

The general claim offices of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern and Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton roads were consolidated yesterday, with E. L. Williams in charge as general claim agent. The offices will be located in the central union depot building, Cincinnati. — Washington Democrat.

GASOLINE STOVE

Started Another Fire Tuesday Evening.

The fire department was called to the residence of Frank Gilbert at 507 Indianapolis avenue about 6 o'clock Tuesday evening to extinguish a blaze which started from a gasoline stove. A member of the family threw the stove out of the house and the fire did not gain much headway before the arrival of the department. The damage done was small and is covered by insurance.

MEXICAN PEACE SEEMS ASSURED

Both Sides Now Willing to Make Concessions.

TERMS ARE BEING ARRANGED

In the Meantime, However, Madero Has Not Relaxed His Military Vigilance and Is Preparing For a March on Chihuahua in Case There Should Prove Another Slip-Up in the Pending Negotiations.

El Paso, Tex., May 17.—Provisional President of Mexico Francisco I. Madero and Federal Peace Commissioner Francisco Carbajal both are wearing smiles and declare that the prospects are bright for peace, and that the next few hours will bring definite results.

Madero has agreed to recede from his demand for four cabinet members and accept three—the portfolios of war, justice and gubernacion, the latter meaning the control of the government of the states. The insurgents also ask fourteen of the twenty-seven governors.

Diaz wished to concede the insurgents only one of the cabinet offices, and they at first held out for four. He was willing to permit them to have the portfolio of gubernacion, which is now vacant, the incumbent of which will have more to do with restoring peace throughout the country than any other man. Without the ministry of war and the portfolio of justice, however, the insurgents say they will be handicapped. The insurgents wish to completely overhaul the courts.

One criticism of the insurgents against the federal government has been directed against administration of the courts of Mexico, and the rebels are anxious to have political prejudice against the courts removed.

The insurgents, immediately after peace is declared, will form a political party, probably to be called the "progressive" party, and as soon as peace is completely restored and Diaz has resigned a national campaign will be launched with Francisco I. Madero as candidate for president.

It is declared that the peace pact will not be signed until Diaz and Madero have agreed on the cabinet appointments and the governors of the different states, so that there can be no chance of another break after the insurgent army has been disbanded. The army is to be held together and a truce is to be first declared to be made nation wide, if this is possible, so that there will be no further fighting while the two presidents are attempting to get together on the officials to be named. The insurgents are to be given the free use of the telegraph wires, it is stated, so that Madero can communicate with his men in all parts of the republic before naming those he wishes for the different positions under the government.

Madero, although perfectly confident of peace, declares that he is preparing for war. He has positive advices now that the federals have abandoned any hope they might have had of attacking Juarez, but he is still sending men south and declared positively that if peace negotiations are broken off he will attack Chihuahua. He is permitting repairs to be made to the Mexican National railroad south of here and will use the road to transport troops to a point near Chihuahua if an attack is made. If peace is declared, then the road will be ready for operation as soon as peace is restored, and considerable time will be saved.

All is quiet in Ciudad Juarez. Stores are open. Few armed rebels are in sight. The tourist traffic has abated and the town is appearing more natural.

STRANGELY MISSING

South Bend Man Disappeared From Atlantic Liner in Mid-Ocean.

South Bend, Ind., May 17.—Frank J. Reaves, superintendent of the South Bend Watch company, who sailed for England on the liner Lusitania, April 18, is missing, and relatives express the belief he has been the victim of a midocean mystery. The man was last heard of from aboard the ocean liner April 20. Mr. Reaves wrote ten letters on shipboard the day he disappeared, according to information in the hands of his wife, but so far as is known no letter furnishes a clue to his mysterious disappearance.

Momentous Document Ready to Submit to England.

Washington, May 17.—The final draft of the proposed general arbitration treaty by the United States and England has been approved by the cabinet and will be shortly submitted to the British government through Ambassador Bryce. The convention provides for the arbitration of all future disputes between the two countries and will supersede the existing convention, which exempts from arbitration questions affecting the national honor, the vital interest, and questions affecting the rights of third parties. Secretary of State Knox hopes that the convention will be signed in time to submit to the senate for ratification at the present session.

Anti-Trust Law Not Strong Enough, Say Many Congressmen.

Washington, May 17.—The decision of the supreme court in the Standard Oil case interpreting the Sherman anti-trust law will result in a good deal of agitation in congress for the amendment of that statute. This became apparent when Republican insurgents and many Democrats plainly showed discontent over the decision limiting the application of the Sherman anti-trust law to combinations in "unreasonable" restraint of interstate commerce.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE SOUTH

Mr. Taft Sends Greetings to Confederate Veterans.

GETTING CLOSER TOGETHER

The President, in Token of a Reunited Country, Recognizes Heroic Services of Men Who Wore the Gray in Long Struggle Half a Century Ago, and Sends to Their Encampment at Little Rock a Message of Felicitation.

Little Rock, Ark., May 17.—With 20,000 veterans and about 40,000 other visitors in attendance, the annual convention of Confederate Veterans is in session here. General George I. Gordon of Memphis, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, is presiding. The following was read from President Taft and the convention ordered a message of thanks transmitted at once:

"To the Confederate veterans who are now assembled in Little Rock, I send heartfelt greetings and express the hope that they will have a pleasant, successful reunion. The men of the Confederate army fought for a principle which they thought to be right and for which they were willing to give their lives, their homes, in fact all those things which men hold most dear. As we recognize their heroic services, so they and their descendants must honor the services rendered by the gallant sons of the north in the struggle for the preservation of the Union. The contending forces of nearly half a century ago have given place to a united north and south and to an enduring union in whose responsibilities and glories we equally and gratefully share."

"During my visits south it has gratified me greatly to see those who fought for the blue and those who fought for the gray mingle together, worship the old flag and feel a common pride in the deeds of heroism that were displayed in the civil war. One of the most pleasant incidents of my visits south was the evident desire on the part of its people to confirm to the world that we are getting closer and closer together. I congratulate the south on the wonderful progress which it is now making and on the spirit of civic pride which it is displaying.—W. H. Taft."

SWALLOWED DIAMOND

Jeweler Much Astonished by Act of Neighboring Shopman.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 17.—Jeweler Harry Fassen of Pittston lost $100 because Tailor Max Marcus, a neighboring shopman, swallowed a diamond. Marcus is that much in.

Fassen received a shipment of unmounted diamonds and was examining them when Marcus, the tailor, strolled in. They admired the diamonds together and Marcus said he did not see how it was possible to prevent the miners in diamond mines stealing a lot of the stones they found.

"They could swallow them, you know," he explained, and then, picking up one of the larger stones, he placed it on his tongue. "Why, I'll bet I could swallow this easily," he declared.

"It will cost you $50 if you do," laughingly remarked his friend Fassen. "That's a go," exclaimed the tailor, and before the jeweler could recover from his astonishment Marcus seized a glass of water and gulped down both the water and the diamond. Then he pushed $50 across the showcase to the astounded Fassen, grinned and walked out of the shop. Fassen says the diamond cost him $150.

THE LAW'S DELAY

Results in Dismissal of Two Men Charged With Attempted Murder.

Richmond, Ind., May 17.—Because more than three terms of court were held and no trial was given them, Charles Hare and Garfield Garrett, charged with an attempt to murder John Favor of St. Paul, have been released by Judge Blair.

The defendants were arrested in Decatur county in January, 1910, and the defendants' attorneys asked a change of venue. The change was not perfected and the case went by four terms without coming up for consideration.

The defense filed a motion to dismiss, referring in their motion to the statute which provides that the court shall dismiss any criminal suit which is delayed three terms or more, when the defendants have no part in the delay. In his finding Judge Blair said the fault lay with the Decatur circuit court clerk.

Mrs. Taft Much Better.

New York, May 17.—Mrs. W. H. Taft, wife of the president, who has been ill at the home of Henry W. Taft, is better, and expects to be able to return to Washington tomorrow. Miss Helen Taft is with her.

Costly Blaze at Pendleton.

Anderson, Ind., May 17.—The flour mill of the Pendleton Milling company at Pendleton, was destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $12,000. The fire originated in an engine room.

KING ALFONSO

Spain's Ruler 25 Years Old Today.

Madrid, May 17.—The celebration of King Alfonso's twenty-fifth birthday today is being made the occasion of national rejoicing. The day is also the twenty-fifth anniversary of his accession to the throne, for Alfonso was born a king, his father, Alfonso XII, having died suddenly six months before his only son was born.

THE GARY COUNCIL IS ROUNDLY CONDEMNED

Citizens Say City Rights Were Given Away.

Gary, Ind., May 17.—Because the city council majority ratified a fifty-year franchise granting traction rights to Charles H. Geist, the Philadelphia gas magnate, and his Calumet United Railways company, business men of Gary are up in arms. Further feeling was created when it was learned that Mayor Knotts, instead of exercising his veto, signed the franchise ordinance, and as a result investigations and probable impeachment proceedings are hinted at.

The franchise gives Geist a fifty-year right to use the streets of Gary. The lack of a provision for universal transfers, the permission to charge a straight nickel fare, the use of nearly all the streets and the lack of a forfeiture clause for failure to comply with the terms of the grant are bitterly assailed. Geist does not have to begin the construction of his line until six months after he obtains franchises in all adjoining cities, and he does not have to operate his cars until three years after that indefinite time. The existing Gary and Interurban franchise calls for a 3-cent fare after 1913, universal transfers and gives the city a share in the profits. Taken as a whole, experts say, the franchise is the most complete giving away of city rights ever attempted in Indiana.

The Standard Facing Trial.

Rochester, N. Y., May 17.—The Standard Oil company will be called to the bar here next Monday, before Judge John R. Hazel in the United States district court. There are 188 indictments charging the acceptance of rebates, the indictments having been pending for several years. In case of convictions a total fine of $3,760,000 is possible should Judge Hazel decide to assess the maximum punishment.

Old Scientist Breaks Hip.

Jena, Germany, May 17.—Prof. Ernest Heinrich Haeckel broke his hip bone. He was reaching for a book on a high shelf when the stool upon which he was standing, broke. Because of his advanced age, Professor Haeckel being seventy-five, the accident will go hard with him.

CURES BLOOD POISON

A great many so-called remedies for Contagious Blood Poison are composed almost entirely of strong mineral ingredients. They seem to be compounded with the idea that one poison will counteract another—provided the stomach and delicate portions of the system can withstand the effects of the strong treatment. These concoctions are intended to kill the poison in the system. In this article we want to tell you of S. S. S., a purely vegetable remedy for Contagious Blood Poison, a medicine that not only cures the disease, but one which from the first dose has a fine tonic effect upon the stomach and the entire system. Nor does S. S. S. attempt to kill the germs within the system, but cures by REMOVING them from the blood—which is absolutely the only way to cure the disease.

It does not require any argument to establish the fact that a blood disease can be cured only by a blood purifier; every one will admit the truthfulness of this statement. The question of most importance therefore is, what medicine has proven by actual results its superiority as a blood purifier? We claim this distinction for S. S. S., and offer as proof the fact that for more than forty years it has been sold under this claim and the demand for it has steadily increased, and we have thousands of testimonials from cured patients from all parts of the country.

Contagious Blood Poison, as the name implies, is an infectious blood taint which may be communicated from one person to another. Its virus is of a most insidious nature, multiplying from an insignificant germ in the blood, until it becomes a thorough systemic poison. Its first symptom is usually a tiny sore or pimple, but it rapidly spreads, and in a short while the entire body gives evidence of the poison in the blood. The mouth and throat ulcerate, glands in the groin swell, the hair begins to come out, copper-colored spots appear on the body, and frequently running sores and ulcers break out on the flesh.

A condition of such serious nature requires proper treatment. Not only must the disease be driven out, but the system which has been weakened by the ravages of the poison, must be built up before health can be restored.

S. S. S. CURES CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON BY PURIFYING THE BLOOD. It goes into the circulation and removes the last trace of the infectious virus, acts with fine tonic effect on the stomach, bowels, kidneys and all portions of the system, and thus makes a perfect as well as lasting cure. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, each of which has a specific action on the system. Not a particle of mineral of any kind enters into the composition of this great medicine. S. S. S. is perfectly safe for any one to take, and instead of upsetting the stomach as mineral medicines do, it tones up this important member and makes digestion easy. Thousands have cured themselves of Contagious Blood Poison by the use of S. S. S., and if you will write and request it we will send you, without charge, a Home Treatment Book, which will give you all necessary information for curing yourself at your own home. We will also give you free any special medical advice you ask for. S. S. S. cures by making pure, healthy blood—Nature's real remedy.

S. S. S. CURED HIM.

I was afflicted with a terrible blood disease, which was in spots at first, but afterwards spread all over my body. These soon broke out into sores, and it is easy to imagine the suffering I endured. Before I became convinced that the doctors could do me no good I had spent a hundred dollars, which was really thrown away. I then tried various patent medicines, but they did not reach the disease. When I had finished my first bottle of S. S. S. I was greatly improved, and was delighted with the result. The large red spots on my chest began to grow paler and smaller, and before long disappeared entirely. I regained my lost weight, became stronger and my appetite greatly improved. I was soon entirely well, and my skin as clear as a piece of glass.

LOOPED THE LEAP.

His Act Delighted the Audience, but Enraged the Star.

"My father in his youth," said E. H. Sothern, "was once playing in a romantic drama wherein he made a tremendous leap—a leap from his lady love's tower to a mattress behind a wooden rock on the stage far below. It was a thrilling leap, and my father no doubt enjoyed the applause it won him. But one night he sprained his ankle and vowed he would leap no more.

"So the manager hired a professional acrobat to do the leap made up as my father's counterpart, while my father would slip back under cover of the tower wall and descend to his dressing room by means of a hidden ladder.

"The afternoon the acrobat came to the theater to rehearse he made the leap, and then he set up a loud complaint.

"What's the matter?" asked a young member of the company who happened to be in the theater.

"Why," said the acrobat in a disgusted voice, "this here leap is too tame. It's too easy. A man with glass eyes and cork legs could do it. Now, if they'd let me throw two flip-flops in the air as I came down."

"Splendid!" cried the young actor.

"The very thing!"

"You don't think the boss would mind?" said the acrobat doubtfully.

"Mind? Why, man, he'll be tickled to death. Ten to one he'll raise your salary."

"That evening when the great leap scene began my father was gratified to see the acrobat, a perfect picture of himself, crouching in the shadow of the window.

"Love, good night, good night!" my father cried.

"Stay!" moaned the heroine, and she threw herself on his neck. "Stay! That leap is death!"

"Nay, nay, my own; 'tis honor. I leap, 'tis true, but there is that within my heart will bear me up—thine image, love. And so good night, good night."

"He kissed her madly on the brow, tore himself from her clinging arms and rushed across the open space into the shadow.

"Jump!" he hissed to the acrobat between his teeth.

"And out, straight out into the air, shot the acrobat. Twice his lithe shape whirled round like a great flywheel. Then he lit lightly and easily on the topmost point of the wooden rock.

"Roars of laughter and thunders of applause shook the theater. The acrobat bowed stiffly and strutted off into the wings with his arms folded. But the remarks of my poor father on his ladder have not come down to us."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Could Be Trusted.

The late Lord Young of the Scottish bench was responsible for enlivening many a dull case. One of the best remarks that ever fell from his lips was the reply to a counsel who urged on behalf of a plaintiff of somewhat bibulous appearance:

"My client, my lord, is a most remarkable man and holds a very responsible position. He is manager of some waterworks."

After a long look the judge answered: "Yes, he looks like a man who could be trusted with any amount of water."

His Secret Sorrow

Some brothers are an embarrassment. Take the case of Miss Smith of Ogontz, who has a brother who works in the same office with young Burlington. Miss Smith was very much impressed with her brother's friends, and the two fell to discussing the young man.

"He's such a charming fellow," said the girl, "and I like his melancholy ways. He's so solemn he must have had some great trial that he's trying to conceal."

"Yes, indeed," said the brother. "He asked for a raise in salary a month ago, and the boss told 'im he wasn't worth it; that he was being overpaid now."—Philadelphia Times.

DOUBLE REUNION ON AT RICHMOND

Sons of Veterans Meet With the Grand Army.

LARGEST IN ITS HISTORY

The Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the Organization of the Indiana Department, Sons of Veterans, is Being Made a Notable Event—Both the Grand Army and the "Sons" Have Prepared For Unusual Celebration.

Richmond, Ind., May 17.—Colonel Joseph Sego of Valparaiso, state commander of the Sons of Veterans, and his staff officers have arrived here and the commander predicts that the attendance of members will be the largest in the history of the department. This month marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the Indiana department, Sons of Veterans, the first meeting having been held in Richmond May 20, 1885 and in commemoration of the anniversary the annual session will be held here this week, with the parent body, the Grand Army of the Republic.

Commander Asbury of the Indiana department, G. A. R., reached Richmond this morning with Commander-in-Chief Gilman. The state and national commanders were met at the station by a reception committee composed of Judge Daniel W. Comstock, A. D. Gayle and Colonel J. W. Robie. Business sessions today were confined to the council of administration of the Indiana department, G. A. R., and the administrative bodies of the several auxiliary bodies.

ACTS ON SUGGESTION

Moving Picture Show Causes Young Husband to Leave Bride.

Indianapolis, May 17.—After witnessing in a five-cent theater a recital of domestic woe that reached its climax when the husband left home, Robert Harvey, nineteen years old, left his seventeen-year-old bride of six months sitting in the theater and went to their home, where he packed his suitcase and departed.

This was the story told by Rosa Harvey when she swore out a warrant for Harvey's arrest on the charge of wife desertion. According to Mrs. Harvey, she and her youthful husband were still living in their honeymoon, and all was happiness until they attended the motion picture show. They had had no trouble previously to that time, the girl said, and when her husband left the theater on a pretext she had no suspicions until, returning home alone, she found she had been deserted.

MAY PROVE IMPORTANT

Grand Jury to Look Over Personal Effects of John J. McNamara.

Indianapolis, May 17.—Demand for the personal effects of Secretary-Treasurer John J. McNamara of the bridge and structural iron workers, taken from his room on a search warrant, was refused by the authorities and immediately following the refusal a grand jury subpoena was issued ordering the things produced in the grand jury room.

The effects consists of revolvers, a shotgun and a number of the personal letters of McNamara which are said to contain matters that will prove important in the dynamiting cases.

Laborer's Fearful Plight

Michigan City, Ind., May 17.—With his right foot crushed off at the ankle and the bones of the left foot crushed, John Bush, aged twenty-eight, a laborer, crawled two blocks to the doorstep of the nearest house. While walking along the Pere Marquette tracks his foot caught in a frog. A freight train came along before he could release himself and he threw his body out of the way and waited for the train to pass.

Indiana Daughters of Rebekah.

Indianapolis, May 17.—More than 1,200 women are here for the grand lodge meeting of Indiana Daughters of Rebekah. They elected Lulo B. Keane of Jasper, president; Kate J. Nichols of Elkhart, vice president; Ida Vanderlin, Indianapolis, warden; Ella Clark, Bloomington, secretary.

Mayor Shank Defends Memorial Day. Indianapolis, May 17.—Believing that a boxing match on Memorial Day would be a desecration of the day, Mayor Shank says no boxing matches will be permitted on May 30. He says if it is necessary the police force will be called in to prevent any such exhibition being held.

Indicted by Federal Grand Jury. South Bend, Ind., May 17.—Charles A. Davey, a well-known South Bend attorney, was arrested on a charge of intimidating witnesses. The arrest was based on an indictment of the federal grand jury.

Strikers Return to Work. Evansville, Ind., May 17.—The differences existing between the operators and coal miners at Spottsville, Ky., have been adjusted and the men have returned to work.

JAMES G. CANNON.

New York Banker Who Heads Great Revival Movement.

RELIGION TO TAKE COUNTRY BY STORM

Prediction of Leader in Great Revival Movement.

Omaha, May 17.—"Muck raking is to cease and the magazines are to turn their attention toward religion," declared James G. Cannon, president of the Fourth National Bank of New York, in an address to the Ministerial union of this city. Banker Cannon is at the head of a great laymen's revival movement which contemplates taking in the whole country.

"If there is not the greatest ingathering to the churches it will be the fault of the men of the churches, for we are going to have the subject of religion 'played up' in the papers and magazines, that the man who wants to promulgate religion will not have a single excuse for failing to get busy among his friends and neighbors.

"The magazine editors who have been muck raking all their lives are seeing that the thing must end, and that the only step toward progress consists in building man up. Any fool can find fault, but the country is tired and the time has come to call a halt in the muckraking campaign."

Killed by Fist Blow.

Lexington, Ky., May 17.—Richard Anderson, a railroad brakeman, at a coroner's inquest was held to have been guilty of the murder of George Swope. The testimony was in effect that Anderson struck Swope with his fist, and when Swope fell his skull was fractured.

The Kidney Cure Without a Failure

The Positive Cure That Revolutionizes Treatment of Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism and Bladder Trouble.

These statements are not exaggerated. There is no necessity in doing so, because every man and woman suffering from kidney or bladder troubles, or rheumatism can prove it within 24 hours by getting a free package of Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills at any drug store.

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills are ahead of the times, the only kidney and bladder treatment that makes good its strongest statement. Get a free package at your druggist's and see if we have said a hundredth part of what these little wonder-workers do.

Now listen, sufferers, don't get excited. Just lay away all your present treatments for your kidneys, back or bladder. If you have pain in the back, profuse or scanty urination, colored or foul urine, rheumatism anywhere, diabetes, pain in the bladder or terrible Bright's disease, just get a 25c package of Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills at your druggist, and see the difference in yourself in 24 hours. If you think this is too good for you to believe, just ask your druggist for a free sample package and try it. Remember Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills—25 and 50 cents. We will send them from the laboratory of Derby Medicine Co., Eaton Rapids, Mich., if you wish. They are safe, guaranteed. 12

It Will Pay You To Shop In Seymour

Friday, Saturday and Monday, May 19th, 20th and 22nd Special Bargains For You At Every Store In Seymour

GREAT CHANCE TO BUY MERCHANDISE

Everybody Should Arrange to Come to Seymour for This Occasion.

RAILROAD FARES TO BE PAID

Friday, Saturday and Monday to Be Greatest Bargain Days in History of Seymour and Jackson County.

That the Special Bargain Sale in Seymour will mean everything that the words can possibly imply is an assured fact. Practically every merchant in the city has made a reduction of prices in his line of goods for this sale and those in need of anything from a dish pan to a complete outfit for a home or from a pair of hose to a complete clothing outfit, shoes and all, should avail themselves of this opportunity to lay in a supply of merchandise for spring and summer uses at unprecedented prices.

Not only have the merchants marked down the prices of their goods, but in addition to these reductions, they will refund the railroad fares to all out-of-town customers who buy anything to speak of at all.

So it can readily be seen that it will be a great opportunity for the people of this section to save money on anything they may need for some time to come.

An Explanation.

Many may wonder why the merchants of Seymour have united in a movement of this kind, but the reason is simple when explained. The idea was first conceived and it might be said promoted by the Republican. Each merchant was requested to make a cut in prices for three days, Friday, Saturday and Monday, May 19, 20 and 22, and at the same time agree to refund the railroad fares of all out-of-town customers on these three days. The plan met with the approval of nearly every merchant and as a result it will mean the biggest trading opportunity ever known to Seymour. Of course it has created competition among the merchants and each will try and undersell the other during this sale. Cost will have nothing to do with the selling price—it is now just a matter of getting rid of the goods.

But this is all the better for the people who have to buy and as stated above next Friday, Saturday and Monday will be a great opportunity to lay in the spring and summer's supply of merchandise at ridiculously low prices.

HOW TO GET YOUR FARE BACK

Persons coming to Seymour from any of the above named places to trade during this Big Combination Sale will get their railroad fares refunded providing their purchases amount to the sums designated in this schedule.

Refund fare slips will be furnished all merchants who have agreed to pay their proportion of the fares to out-of-town customers during this sale and in order for you to get your fare refunded you should obtain one of these slips of the first merchant from whom you make a purchase. This slip will contain a list of all the merchants who are in on the big combination sale, with blank space for each to put down the amount of your purchase. This slip is retained by you and afterwards presented at each store at which you buy anything during the day and then before you leave for home the slip is to be taken to the REPUBLICAN office where your fare will be refunded in cash providing your purchases during the day amount to the sum required according to the above schedule.

By this method it will be readily seen that you will not have to buy everything from one store, or the full amount required which entitles you to your fare back from any certain merchant, but on the contrary you can patronize as many different stores as you like and if your purchases amount to the required sum your fare will be refunded in cash by presenting the slip at the REPUBLICAN office anytime before leaving for home.

Farmers Included as Well as Townspeople

Fares will be refunded to all persons who come from a distance equal to any of the towns in the above schedule whether by team or rail. And this will include farmers as well as persons living in towns. The price of a railroad ticket to and from any of these places will be refunded to all persons whether farmers or townspeople who drive to Seymour to trade during this big sale just as though they came by the Southern Indiana, Pennsylvania, B. & O. or Interurban railroad. For instance a person residing in Brownstown or a farmer who lives nearer that place than any other towns from which fares are to be refunded, who drives to Seymour to trade during the sale will get the price of a railroad ticket providing his purchases amount to the required sum.

Amounts equivalent to railroad fares according to the distance will be refunded to all persons coming from or near any of the inland towns listed above the same as if located on the railroad. Come by team or rail and get your fare back or an amount equal to it. Read the schedule carefully and don't forget to ask the first merchant from whom you make a purchase for a refund fare slip, so you can keep account of your purchases.

TALK ABOUT YOUR MAIL ORDER HOUSE

Bring Your Catalogue and Compare With Prices Made in Seymour.

IT IS A BIG COMBINATION

But to Lower Prices Instead of to Raise Them.—Special Bargains Each Day and Your Railroad Fare Paid.

"Bring your catalogue with you," is the challenge of the Seymour merchants. It is the intention of every merchant here to show the people of Seymour and surrounding territory, that they can not only sell goods as cheap, but cheaper than any of the neighboring towns and cities and especially the mail order houses.

And you won't have to pay the freight either. Besides this, railroad fares will be paid to all out-of-town customers during this great combination sale. Think of it, and don't let anything prevent you from getting to Seymour during this sale.

Come on Friday, the first day of the sale, and then go back and tell your friends and neighbors what wonderful bargains are in store for them in Seymour. And don't forget to get your fare refunded during this big combination sale.

The big sale is an innovation for the city and county and is being promoted and arranged by the Republican in order to advertise Seymour as the best trading point in this section of the country. Let everyone boost.

Don't Overlook a Thing.

You can get bargains on anything you want in Seymour during this big combination sale.

Extraordinary May Sale

A GREAT STOCK OF DESIRABLE,
DEMANDABLE MERCHANDISE IS UNDERPRICED

Here is an unheard of, never-to-be-forgotten opportunity for the buying public of Jackson county and vicinity. Unfavorable weather conditions force us to turn considerable merchandise, bought with the anticipation of being sold by this time, into ready cash, as our purchasing power has over reached the presumably activity in spring needs, we are like other investment ventures, caught with

Loads of Merchandise and a Backward Season

There is only one relief and that is, to inaugurate a BARGAIN CARNIVAL now, which should under favorable conditions, be an end of a season event. Modern merchandising demands the clearing of our shelves of goods which should have been worn by this time.

Prices quoted here are the usual wind up of the season's prices, and you owe it to yourself to take advantage of it. Dress Goods, Silks, Wash Goods Domestics, Notions, Hosiery, Underwear, Fancy Goods, Millinery, Ready-to-wear Garments, Carpets, Curtains, Draperies, Rugs, Household Furnishings, China, Tin and Granite Ware, in fact every line, plays an important part in this Sale.

Appreciating the liberal patronage extended by our many out-of-town customers, in connection with this Wonderful Bargain Event, we will rebate their transportation expense as advertised for three days, Friday, Saturday and Monday, May 19th, 20th and 22nd.

GOLD MINE DEPARTMENT STORE

SEYMOUR • INDIANA

RAY R. KEACH

The Country Store

SEYMOUR, INDIANA

One Year Old This Month

Has grown to be one of Jackson County's Largest and Busiest Stores, a growth unequalled by any other store in Southern Indiana. Nothing other than low prices, honest methods, courteous treatment and our enormous outlet, enabling us to buy in large quantities, could have brought about such results. For lack of space, it will be impossible to quote prices on everything. But bring your produce and memorandum of what you want to our store. Get our prices and you are sure to buy and not only the one time, but you will certainly continue to trade here after you once see how much larger your packages are and how much farther your money and produce will go. We expect to add several extra sales people during this three days sale so you can rest assured you will be waited on promptly.

FREE! ABSOLUTELY FREE TO THE PARTY guessing the nearest number of customers waited on during this 3 days' sale, Friday, Saturday and Monday, May 19, 20 and 22, 1911, I will give absolutely free to the one guessing the exact number or nearest the exact number, choice of our $7.50 HAMMOCKS OR LAWN SWINGS; 2nd nearest, $2.00 GILT FRAME PICTURE. The only conditions are, one guess with each purchase, no matter how large or small the purchase may be. The committee to look after the number of customers waited on and the awarding of prizes, will be left to the following salesmen in my employ, S. A. Shutters, F. C. Mitchell and David Kellar. Our cash register records the number of transactions each day and committee will be governed by number showing each day.

GOOD DRUGS

Fair Prices

If pure drugs and medicines and honest charges count for anything, then we merit your attention.

Our drugs and medicines alike are always pure—of the highest potency. That comes from a large patronage, enabling us to buy often and not carrying the same stock for six months to a year.

And you'll find our prices pleasing—always in keeping with the very best qualities, yet moderate and fair.

These are two things that should prompt you to consider our store when in need.

WHEN YOU BUY

Rice and Hutchins Shoes

You purchase more than a pair of Shoes, you get a guarantee of absolute satisfaction, but you pay for the shoes only. The guarantee represents another pair of shoes ready and waiting for you at Ross', should the pair you buy prove unsatisfactory. It protects you from disappointment. Quality in Rice & Hutchins begins with the tanning of the leather and is maintained throughout every process of manufacture until the completed shoe is ready to pass final inspection. The manufacturer knows the quality is there because they put it there, knowing thus, they have no hesitancy in guaranteeing it is there.

Kentucky Wagon Mfg. Co.
Louisville, Ky.

Gentlemen:-

I have a "TENNESSEE" wagon, bought in 1898, which I consider the lightest running wagon I ever hooked to.

F. E. Gillespie.

THE PROOF OF THE UNEQUALED QUALITY of the "TENNESSEE" wagon is in its weight. Everybody knows that the better the quality of timber, the more it weighs. Some of the greater weight of the "TENNESSEE" wagon is in its better ironing, but most of it is in the better quality of lumber used in building them.

THEY ARE THE EASIEST RUNNERS of any wagons as shown by thousands of letters on file with the Manufacturers of them, like the one printed on this page.

Hardware

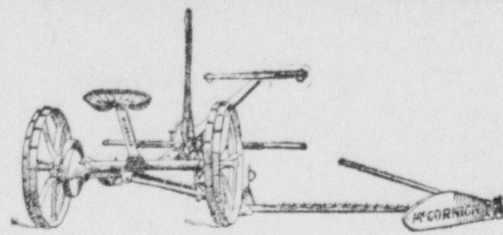

Saws, Axes, Hatchets, Hammers, Chisels, Files, Augers and Auger Bits, in fact a full line of mechanics tools, also Shovels, Spades, Hoes, Forks, Scythes, Lawn Mowers, Lawn and Garden Rakes, etc., etc.

House Furnishing Goods

New Home sewing machines, washing machines, steel and wood frame clothes wringers, wringer benches. Refrigerators, ice cream freezers, lawn hose, aluminum ware, white and gray enameled ware. Rochester Copper, nickel-plated ware food choppers. Table cutlery silver plated tea and table spoons. etc., etc.

Stoves and Ranges

A large line of Quick Meal Stoves and Ranges for burning coal. Blue flame Coal Oil, Gasoline and Gas, Model and Equity, Steel and Cast Ranges. Square and Reservoir Cast Cooking Stoves. Caloric Fireless Cookers at prices to suit everybody's pocket-book.

WE WANT YOU

to call and inspect our line of farm machines. We are exclusive dealers for McCormick Harvesting machines—mowers, rakes, corn machines and twine. Each and every machine is light running and is built for service. If you are not already a user, you do not realize what satisfaction McCormick machines will give you.

We want you to call today and talk over the harvesting machine proposition. If you don't need a harvesting machine, perhaps we can interest you in some other McCormick machine. If you are not ready to buy now, call anyway. Get a catalogue and learn why McCormick machines excel and are known as the world's standard.

A complete line of Farming Machinery, such as Walking and Riding Plows, Steel and Wood Frame Harrows. The genuine Brown Walking and Riding Cultivators, also Ohio, Hawkins, Buckeye and the Pilot Disc Riding Cultivators, Superior and Black Hawk Corn Planters, Steel and Wood Track Hay Carriers. Superior Hoe and Disc Wheat Drills. Buggies and Surreys.

For Anything
Not Perfectly Satisfactory

HUNDREDS and hundreds of people have attended this sale, and taken advantage of the unusual bargains offered. Not a customer has been or could have been dissatisfied. Every purchaser has secured exceptional value from money spent. All have gone home and told their friends and neighbors about this great money saving opportunity, and so the good news has spread. People have come from miles and miles, because they knew it would pay them to do it. The unusual values offered at this sale are attracting attention all over the county. No one, who is anxious to make every dollar he earns do its duty, can afford to miss this opportunity. EVERYTHING SOLD EXACTLY AS ADVERTISED. EVERY TRANSACTION GUARANTEED. YOUR MONEY BACK FOR EVERYTHING NOT PERFECTLY SATISFACTORY.

You Never Bought Such Good Suits For So Little Money

We are not given to idle boasting. Stubborn facts of the prices placed before you have been fulfilled to the uttermost in this great money saving sale. While taxed beyond the capacity of a largely increased sales force, still we have done our best to serve each customer faithfully and carefully, and we know that each customer has been bountifully rewarded for his patience in the splendid bargains secured. It is not surprising that this sale has created more comment, more wonder and more buying than any sale this town has ever known. Equal bargains have never before been offered the public.

FACTS

WE don't sell all the good clothing in town, but all the clothes we do sell are good, see the point? For instance it would be rank egotism if we claimed nobody else deals fairly, besides it wouldn't be so. But we are safe in claiming this: THAT YOU WON'T FIND a larger assortment, that you won't get more for your money, you won't get better values, you won't get fairer treatment at any other store.

We are making our arrangements to give to the people on May 19, 20 and 22, big bargains in clothing for men, young men and children. Also in shoes, hats and gent's furnishings of all kinds. We are going to attach honest bargains to honest goods, you'll find here no tricks, no shams, no strings tied to our offers, but prices that will tempt you, and the more you buy the more you'll save.

The following story comes from York Harbor, Me.: "Say, yer know that literary chap that hed the Furness cottage up on the hill two years ago last summer—Mark Twain, I b'lieve they called 'im. Gee, ye'd never think ter look at 'im thet he could write books!"

"Waal, he uster come over ter my house an' set fer hours to a time while I spun yarns an' told 'im about York folks an' things. Seemed to be real sociable like—liked ter smoke an' talk an' joke with an' old fool like me.

"Waal, one day he come ter me lookin' kind o' worried like, and his hair was all ruffled up like he'd been aout in a stiff nor'easter, an' he sez, 'Cap'n Brooks, can you tell me if there is an osteopath at the Harbor?"

"Waal, sez I, 'they mebbe, but I ain't never ketched one on 'em, an' I've been fishin' here nigh onter forty years.' He looked at me kind o' queer an' then said he guessed he'd go up ter the drug store an' enquire.

"Waal, I went home an' told the old woman about it, an' she sez, 'You big fool, Jed Brooks, 'tain't no fish; 'tis a bird.' So then I went inter the best room an' took down the cyclopedium my boy Steve hed when he was ter Harvard college, an' 'I'll be darned if it want no fish at all, nor it wa'n't no bird neither, but a newfangled kind of a doctor!"

Too Much Aid.

The professor of law was quizzing his class. Singling out a somnolent student in the rear of the room, he addressed a question to him. Confused, the student rose and bent his ear to catch the stage whispers of his friends seated about him.

"Well, you ought to be able to answer," snapped the professor, "with all the aid you are receiving back there!"

"Professor," came the quick reply, "I could, but there's a difference of opinion back here."

CHAPTER XI. 62 CUTHBERT ROAD.

SWEETWATER was soon at the bottom of the hill, where the street, taking a turn, plunged him at once into a thickly populated district. As this was still the residence quarter, he passed on until he gained the heart of the town and the region of the saloons. Here he slackened pace and consulted a memorandum he had made while talking to Hexford.

It was not his intention to revisit the places so thoroughly overhauled by the police. He carried another list, that of certain small groceries and quiet, unobtrusive hotels, where a man could find a private room in which to drink alone, it being Sweetwater's conviction that in such a place, and in such a place only, would be found the tokens of those solitary hours spent by Arthur Cumberland between the time of his sister's murder and his re-appearance the next day.

He asked the first passerby the way to Hubbell's alley.

It was a mile off. "That settles it," muttered Sweetwater. "Besides, I doubt if he would go into an alley. The man has sunk low, but hardly so low as that. What's the next address I have? Cuthbert road. Where's that?"

Espeying a policeman eying him with more or less curiosity from the other side of the street, he crossed over and requested to be directed to Cuthbert road.

"Cuthbert road! That's where the markets are. They're closed at this time of night," was the somewhat suspicious reply.

Evidently the location was not a savory one.

"Is there nothing but markets there?" inquired Sweetwater quite innocently. It was his present desire not to be recognized as a detective even by the men on beat. "I'm looking up a friend. He keeps a grocery or some kind of small hotel. I have his number, but I don't know how to get to Cuthbert road."

"Then turn straight about and go down the first street, and you'll reach it before the trolley car you see up there can strike this corner. But first sew up your pockets. There's a bad block between you and the markets."

Sweetwater slapped his trousers and laughed.

"I wasn't born yesterday," he cried and, following the officer's directions, made straight for the road. Sixty-two was not far off.

He hesitated when he reached it. Some houses invite and some repel. This house repelled. Yet there was nothing shabby or mysterious about it. There was the decent entrance, lighted, but not too brilliantly; a row of dark windows over it, and above it all a sloping roof in which another sparkle of light drew his attention to an upper row of windows, this time of the old dormer shape. An alley ran down one side of the house to the stables, now locked, but later to be thrown open for the use of the farmers who begin to gather here as early as 4 o'clock. Nothing wrong in its appearance, everything shipshape and yet—"I shall find some strange characters here," was the Sweetwater comment with which our detective opened the door and walked into the house.

It was an unusual hour for guests, and the woman whom he saw bending over a sort of desk in one corner of the room he strode into looked up hastily, almost suspiciously.

"Well, and what is your business?" she asked.

"I want a room," he tipsily confided to her. "In which I can drink and drink till I cannot see—whisky. Just whisky. Give me a room. I'll be quiet."

"I'll give you nothing." She was hot and angry and full of distrust. "This house is not for such as you. It's a farmers' lodging—honest men, who'd stare and go mad to see a fellow like you about. Go along, I tell you, or I'll call Jim. He'll know what to do with you."

"Then he'll know more'n I do myself," mumbled the detective, with a crushed and discouraged air. "Money and not a place to spend it in! Why can't I go in there?" he peevishly inquired with a tremulous gesture toward a half open door through which a glimpse could be got of a neat little snuggerly. "Nobody'll see me. Give me a glass and leave me till I rap for you in the morning. That's worth a fever. Don't you think so, missus? And we'll begin by passing over the river."

"THIS HOUSE IS NOT FOR SUCH AS YOU."

"No." She was mighty peremptory, and, what was more, she was in a great hurry to get rid of him. This haste and the anxious ear she turned toward the hall enlightened him as to the situation. There was some one within hearing or liable to come within hearing who possibly was not so stiff under temptation.

Changing his tactics, he turned his back on the snuggerly and surveyed the offended woman with just a touch of maudlin sentiment.

"I say," he cried, just loud enough to attract the attention of any one within ear shot, "you're a mighty fine woman and the boss of this here establishment, that's evident. I'd like to see the man who could say no to you. He's never sat in that 'ere cashier's seat where you be, of that I'm dead sure. He wouldn't care for fivers if you didn't, nor for tens either."

He began to edge toward the door, always eying her and always speaking loudly in admirably acted tipsy unconsciousness of the fact.

"I'm a man who likes my own way as well as anybody, but I never quarrel with a woman. I'm going, missus; I'm going. Oh!"

The man who had entered was small almost to the point of being a manikin, and, more than that, he was weazen of face and ill balanced on his two tiny, ridiculous legs.

"Is she making a fool of herself?" asked the little man in a voice as shrill as it was weak. "Do your business with me. Women are no good." And he stalked into the room as only little men can.

Sweetwater took out his bill, pointed to the snuggerly and tapped his breast pocket. "Whisky here," he confided. "Bring me a glass. I don't mind your farmers. They won't bother me. What I want is a locked door and a still mouth in your head. I want to booze to my heart's content, with nobody by to count the glasses. You've known such fellows before, and that cozy little room over there has known them too. Just add me to the list. It won't harm you."

The man's hand closed on the bill. Sweetwater noted the action out of the corner of his eye, but his direct glance was on the woman. Her back was to him, but she had started as he mentioned the snuggerly and made as if to turn, but thought better of it and bent lower over her books.

"I've struck the spot," he murmured exultantly to himself. "This is the place I want, and here I'll spend the night, but not to booze my wits away; oh, no."

Nevertheless it was a night virtually wasted. He learned nothing more than what was revealed by that one slight movement on the part of the woman.

The driving in of the farmers, and the awakening of life in the market, and all the stir it occasioned inside the house and out, prevented sleep even if he had been inclined that way. Sooner than was expected of him, sooner than was wise, perhaps, he was on his feet and peering out of the one small window this most dismal day room contained. He had not mistaken the outlook. It gave on to the alley and all that was visible from behind the curtains where he stood was the high brick, windowless wall of the neighboring house. He turned back into the room, disgusted, then crept to the window again, and, softly raising the sash, cast one of his lightning glances up and down the alley. Then he softly let the sash fall again and retreated to the center of the room, where he stood for a moment with a growing smile of intelligence and hope on his face. He had detected close against the side of the wall a box or hand-cart full of empty bottles. It gave him an idea. With an impetuosity he would have criticized in another man he flung himself out of the room in which he had been for so many hours confined and, coming face to face with the landlady standing in unexpected watch before the door, found it a strain on his nerves to instantly assume the sullen, vaguely abused air with which he had decided to leave the house. Nevertheless he made the attempt, and if he did not succeed to his own satisfaction he evidently did to hers, for she made no effort to stop him as he stumbled out, and in her final look, which he managed with some address to intercept, he perceived nothing but relief. What had been in her mind—fear for him or fear for herself? He could not decide until he had rummaged that cart of bottles. But how was he to do this without attracting attention to himself in a way he still felt to be undesirable?

When later in the day a certain old peddler went his rounds through this portion of the city a disreputable looking fellow accompanied him, whom even the sharp landlady in Cuthbert road would have failed to recognize as the same man who had occupied the snuggerly the night before. He was many hours on the route and had many new experiences with human nature. But he gained little else and was considering with what words he should acknowledge his defeat at police headquarters when he found himself again at the markets and a minute later in the alley where the cart stood, the contents of which he had seen earlier in the day.

He had followed the peddler here because he had followed him to every other back door and alley. But he was tired and had small interest in the cart which looked quite undisturbed and in exactly the same condition as when he turned his back upon it in the morning. But when he drew nearer and began to lead a hand in removing the bottles to the wagon he discovered that a bottle had been added to the pile and that this bottle bore the label which marked it as being one of the two which had been taken from the clubhouse on the night of the murder.

The lamp in the corner's room shone dully on the perturbed faces of three anxious men. They had been talking earnestly and long, but were now impatiently awaiting the appearance of a fourth party.

The district attorney courted the light and sat where he would be the first seen by any one entering. Farther back and rather behind the lamp than in front of it stood or sat, as his restlessness prompted, Coroner Perry, the old friend of Amasa Cumberland, with whose son he had now to do. Behind him and still farther in the shadow could be seen the quiet figure of Sweetwater. All counted the minutes and all showed relief, the coroner by a loud sigh, when the door finally opened and an officer appeared, followed by the lounging form of Adelaide's brother.

Arthur Cumberland had come unwillingly, and his dissatisfaction did not improve his naturally heavy countenance. "I call this hard," he burst forth. "My place is at home and at the bedside of my suffering sister, and you drag me down here at 9 o'clock at night to answer questions about things of which I am completely ignorant. I've said all I have to say about the trouble which has come into my family, but if another repetition of the same things will help to convict that scoundrel who has broken up my home and made me the wretchedest dog alive then I'm ready to talk. So fire ahead, Dr. Perry, and let's be done with it."

"Sit down," replied the district attorney gravely, with a gesture of dismissal to the officer. "Mr. Cumberland, we have spared you up to this time for two very good reasons. You were in great trouble, and you appeared to be in the possession of no testimony which would materially help us. But matters have changed since you held conversation with Dr. Perry on the day following your sister's decease. You have laid that sister away, the will which makes you an independent man for life has been read in your hearing, you are in as much ease of mind as you can be while your remaining sister's life hangs trembling in the balance, and, more important still, discoveries not made before the funeral have been made since, rendering it very desirable for you to enter into particulars at this present moment which were not thought necessary then."

"I CALL THIS HARD," HE BURST FORTH.

"Particulars? What particulars? Don't you know enough as it is to hang the fellow? Wasn't he seen with his fingers on Adelaide's throat? What can I tell you that is any more damaging than that? Particulars!" The word seemed to irritate him beyond endurance.

"We can understand," said the coroner, "why you should feel so strongly against one who has divided the hearts of your sisters and played with one of them with both. But there are missing links still to be supplied, and this is why we have summoned you here and ask you to be patient and give the district attorney a little clearer account of what went on in your own house before you broke up that evening and you went to your debauch and your sister Adelaide to her death at the Whispering Pines."

Bitter Wits.

Voltaire and Rousseau, though on friendly terms, were in the habit of firing off pointed jokes at one another. One day Rousseau was dining with Voltaire, and oysters were brought on the table, for, as somebody has remarked, no dinner could be complete without them. The author of "Emile," after helping himself pretty freely, made the somewhat injudicious remark:

"I am sure I could eat as many oysters as Samson slew Philistines."

"With the same weapon?" (the jaw-bone of an ass) slyly inquired Voltaire.

Rousseau did not soon forget the little joke at his expense and sought an opportunity for revenge. Not long afterward Voltaire called at his house during his absence. The door being open, he walked into the library, and, finding all the books thrown about in confusion and covered with dust, he traced on one of them the word "ecchon" (pigs) with his finger. Next day he met Rousseau and said to him:

"I called at your house yesterday, but did not find you in."

"I know," replied the latter. "I found your card."

An Italian dinner combination is one of Brussels sprouts served in a circle of mashed turnips with slices of boiled beets arranged on top of the turnip and some small oblongs of fried bread arranged around the sides as a garnish. The dish should be well seasoned.

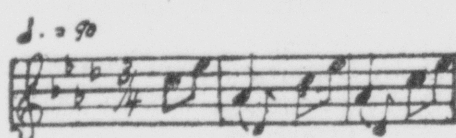

Birds Compose, Also Sing Popular Songs

EARLY one morning in the spring of 1893 Henry Oldys, ornithologist and musician, attached to the staff of the biological survey at Washington, heard a most attractive bird song uttered in a voice of such beautiful quality, so clear and distinct and so true to our scale, that it could be easily written down. He made a record of it, and for eighteen years he has been making these records of bird music until now he probably knows more about that one fascinating subject than any other man in the country.

Some birds of a species can sing much better than others, have far better voices, more brilliant technique, and show more artistic temperament than others of the same species. He says that if he were called upon to say which of our birds was the finest singer he would, "on the basis of his present imperfect knowledge," give the award, "considering quality of voice, style of delivery and musical form, to the wood thrush." In fact, from what he has been able to gather from accounts of singing birds of other countries, he is inclined to believe that the wood thrush is "pre-eminent in the entire avian world."

Of the cardinal grosbeak, evidently a prime favorite, he says, "It has powerful yet velvety tones and sings without self-consciousness, tricks or mannerism as conscious as brilliant as his appearance."

Can't Reproduce Some.

Mr. Oldys has heard many songs that could not be written on our musical staff or reproduced in the human throat. "Most song sparrows," he says, "utter songs that have little relation to our music—songs that cannot even be recorded owing to the non-use of our scale. And of the songs of some species I have no musical record."

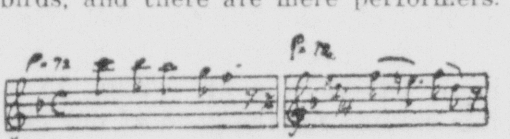

A WOOD THRUSH THAT SANG BADLY, SHOWING TENDENCY TO BREAK ON HIGH NOTES.

and, what is more, never shall have. Even among the species that have given me songs that are true to our scale many individuals have uttered such as are incapable of exact notation."

His description of the meadow lark's song is not quite so alluring as that of the cardinal. He is spoken of as "singing with a quivering note, and frequently wandering from the key, generally reaching his goal in apparent fear and trembling. Sometimes it sounds like a windmill thirsting for oil or like an aged wheelbarrow."

There are composers among the birds, and there are mere performers.

MEADOW LARK PLAGIARIZING HANDEL, ANOTHER PLAGIARIZING SOUSA.

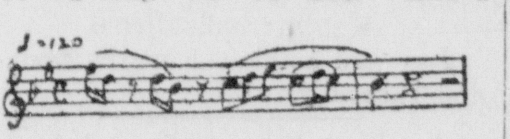

In the latter class are the canary and the mocking bird. They have beautiful voices and use them very skillfully, but seem to have no idea of musical form. Others, like the wood thrushes, the song sparrows and the chewinks, have voices of smaller compass and far less brilliant execution, but show considerable skill as composers.

Bird Plagiarists.

As Mr. Oldys speaks of the performers and composers among the birds he admits the cleverness of the mere imitators, so, too, he gives amusing examples of birds with "no ear for music" attempting to imitate accomplished musicians.

Mr. Oldys tells of a Baltimore oriole whose song was strangely reminiscent, until he realized that the bird was disguising "Taken From the County Jail," from "The Mikado," by tacking on a few notes of ragtime at the finish.

Another oriole of his acquaintance was evidently entirely familiar with the old song "Not For Joe." And a meadow lark sang for him a bar or two of Sousa's "Washington Post March," with a decided meadow lark accent, to be sure, but with appreciation and apparent enjoyment of its strong rhythmic swing. Nor is it only the lighter varieties of human music that the birds adopt. In spite of his uncomplimentary description of the meadow lark Mr. Oldys tells how one greeted him one morning "with a flushed production, evidently borrowed with very little change in time from Handel."

Chic Frocks for Misses.

Furnished by Pictorial Review
The Pictorial Review Bldg.

222-224-226 West 39th Street, New York City

The girl in her "teens" wears almost the same style of dress as the woman of thirty though simplified in regard to trimmings and line. The three costumes illustrated in this chat corroborate this statement. They can be worn by an older woman and yet are delightfully girlish. This fact is due to the sweet simplicity of cut for which PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERNS are so well known. The latest and most fashionable features in dresses are introduced in these designs and are so artistically carried out that only the very smartest creations are developed.

PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3949 is a good selection for the young girl who wishes to have a party and an afternoon dress in one. The graceful sleeve-in-one-with-the-body effect which is shown in so many of the very newest Parisian models, is particularly becoming to misses because it accentuates the bewitching prettiness of their youthful shoulders.

Flowered batiste was employed for this little frock with tucked net for the under-body and the short kimono sleeves. As pictured, the dress is worn over a lace guimpe, but on warm days and for evening it would be very attractive if left low at the neck. The costume is without lining and is in one piece, the straight side-plaited skirt being joined to the waist under a fitted and stitched belt. No guimpe pattern is included. Patterns are for 14, 16 and 18 years. Size 16 requires 5 1/2 yards of 36-inch material. Either hand embroidery, lace insertion or bands of the popular beading may be used as trimming.

Embroidered flouncing having a large proportion of eyelet work in the design is one of the attractive dress materials for the Summer. There are wide and narrow bands matching it for the waist and sleeves. All-over eyelet work, as well as flouncing, is having an extensive vogue. Whenever flouncing can be used for a dress, bordered materials are also adaptable for it, and the latter can be used effectively in other designs by separating the border from the goods and applying where it needs a trimming. Handsome foulards, novelty silks, pongees, challis, marquisettes, Lansdowne, dotted Swisses, linens and other similar materials are shown in the most attractive colorings. A good deal of satin will be used as a combination material.

The high-waistline is becoming to girlish figures and will have a wide vogue. The waist-line is finished off with a long narrow cord having tassels at the ends or is shirred in two or three rows. Ribbon bows with long ends and dainty rosettes are also used.

PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3944 has a simple and conventional style that will make a strong appeal. It was copied successfully in dotted blue challis with blue silk yoke and cuffs, set off by small black velvet buttons. Blue silk also fashioned the fitted girle under which the circular skirt and waist was joined. The shallow, round yoke was of all-over lace. The tucked blouse and kimono sleeves are in one and the dress is without a lining. Patterns are for 14, 16 and 18 years. Size 16 requires 5 1/2 yards of 36-inch material.

Figured and plain foulard produced the neat little frock shown in PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3933. The plain colored silk is well suited to bring out the best features of the costume as it does here. It formed the collar, cuffs and belt, and lengthened the five-gored skirt by a circular flounce. The model is without a lining and the five-gored skirt is joined to the waist under the trim little belt. This is a style which might be successfully copied in linen. The guimpe pattern is not furnished. Patterns are for 14, 16 and 18 years, the 18-year old size requiring 3 1/2 yards of 36-inch material.

Patterns for above illustrations including cutting and construction guides are 15 cents each number.

Interesting to Know.

That were it not for the forces of nature no living creature could recover when injured or sick.

That the glands and organs within the body have the power to convert simple food into all the elements which make up the human body.

That nature requires no drugs for the constructive change of cell life that takes place in the cure of every disease.

That the fractured bone and the amputation wound have to get well without drugs and the very same law applies to all other disabilities and diseases.

That many individuals on the sick bed waiting for the "whisper that calls them aside" regret they put off calling a skillful osteopath.

That nature is not so simple as to be hoodwinked with a bottle of black medicine or with pills and plasters. Nature does not do business that way; she is too wise. If you want health you've got to earn it by right living and following nature's mandates.

Nature never intended that you should hug a medicine bottle, neither did she ordain that you find health in riotous living, but she admonishes you to live right and obey her laws.

That the enjoyment of health is largely within your reach if you will but avail yourself of osteopathic treatment, coupled with right living. It has more than satisfied the hopes of those who have been the recipients of treatment here in Seymour.

That the truth of the ability of Osteopathy to effect cures in the severest types of chronic cases is being demonstrated by the Spauldust Osteopaths at their offices, First National Bank Building.

SMALL COTTAGE AT SMALL COST.

Design BC, by Glenn L. Saxton, Architect, Minneapolis, Minn.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

This is a very practical cottage home to build for a small amount of money. There are three splendid rooms on the first story besides the reception room. A combination grade door is underneath the stairs to the second story. The fine closet space, as a rule, is not found in a house of the same dimensions. There is hardwood finish in the first story, pine to paint in the second and birch or maple floors. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $1,800.

By special arrangement with me the editor of this paper will furnish one complete set of plans and specifications of design No. BC for $15.

Rugby Bicycle

Other bicycles may be higher priced but they are not better. The Rugby is a bicycle that can be depended upon. It is made of quality material in every part, and the parts that come in for unusual strain are made so good that they really become the strong points of the machine.

The Rugby shows its quality in the superior finish and its fine lines. The best of all, the Rugby shows quality after long continued service.
